

Sweet T
and the NorthWind

by Cat Michaels
illustrated by Irene A. Johns

Author of books for young readers and the young at heart
Biography

Cat Michaels

CAT MICHAELS started writing stories in fourth grade and hasn't stopped since.

After earning an M.S. degree in special education from the University of Kansas, she spent two decades helping students from kindergarten to college reach their potential. She also managed communication and training programs for an international high-tech company.

She returned to her education roots, serving at a community college as a writing coach to support students with Asperger's syndrome and learning disabilities.

Cat spins tales of everyday life, with a twist of magic or twinge of mystery, that open young minds to new ways of looking at the world. She also co-administers the 3.4K-member Kid Literature Facebook community, a global group of authors and readers devoted to child literacy.

Cat is available to visit schools in person or by SKYPE for AUTHOR VISITS and CAREER DAYS, libraries for STORY HOUR, and BOOK FAIRS for readings and book signings. Find more information and contact Cat on her website.

www.catmichaelswriter.com